"Power like a drum, Leadership like a violin."

Under the leadership of Doug Shapiro, the Student government has changed drastically. Syosset's government has evolved from a Student Council to a Student Union, to the more productive Student Senate. Two delegates and one alternate are selected from each social studies class to form the legislative body of the government. The Student Senate has worked hard to create a spirit of unity for all those in Syosset High School.

Working to get a better understanding of the world situation, members of the Model U.N. involve themselves in several interschool events. Students from Syosset acted as delegates, researching and representing specific countries at various simulated United Nations conferences held at neighboring colleges.

The general purpose has been to make students aware of international problems, as well as helping them to understand the workings of the World Organization.

Once upon a time, there was a fairy princess in an ivory tower. The princess was lonely and so wanted a radio station with which to communicate with the outside world. So she sent a carrier pigeon to the wizard in Washington and asked for a radio station. And the wizard said, "Sure, babe." The fairy princess called her station WPST. However, it was soon discovered that the wizard was practicing without a license, so WPST was taken away from the lonely princess. She was desolated. She then sent another carrier pigeon to her fairy godmother, also residing in Washington, and asked for another radio station. And the fairy godmother said "Sure, babe." So she called her new radio station WKWZ. And since the fairy godmother was legit, everyone lived happily ever after, (including the wizard who was last seen selling used cars in downtown Syosset).

Progress to the past

By Jon Kantor

Comparing and contrasting elementary school and high school is inevitable after a visit to a lower school such as Robbin's Lane Elementary School. There is a wonderful order to things in this elementary school; there is unity in its functioning. The elementary school is a working unit; it is coherent and cohesive.

In an elementary school there is a sense of purpose invested in every activity and everything is well-defined. For example, the job of the teacher is to teach and this remark is not as fatuous as it may seem. The cafeteria is a place to eat. The gym is a place to exercise. The hall is a place to get to other places. Period. So simple, yet so desirable and seemingly unattainable.

The elementary schools, whether they know it or not, have what the high school direly lacks—structure. And by structure I do not mean the petty tyranny that most people associate with that word; I mean a definite meaning in every function. Without structure, there is no freedom.

The problem, simply, is that we have not attained an accurate definition of freedom. In the name of freedom we have pruned structure.

Whoever is responsible for the condition of the elementary schools has clearly demonstrated his thorough understanding of the meaning of freedom and the atmosphere in which it thrives. What happens in the years between the lower and higher schools is a sad, sad story. Two distinct attitudes have arisen: one goes to elementary school to learn, and one goes to high school to honorably fulfill one's obligation to be present. That fact is not tragic in itself. It is the progression from elementary school to high school and the evolution of this second attitude which makes for tragedy.

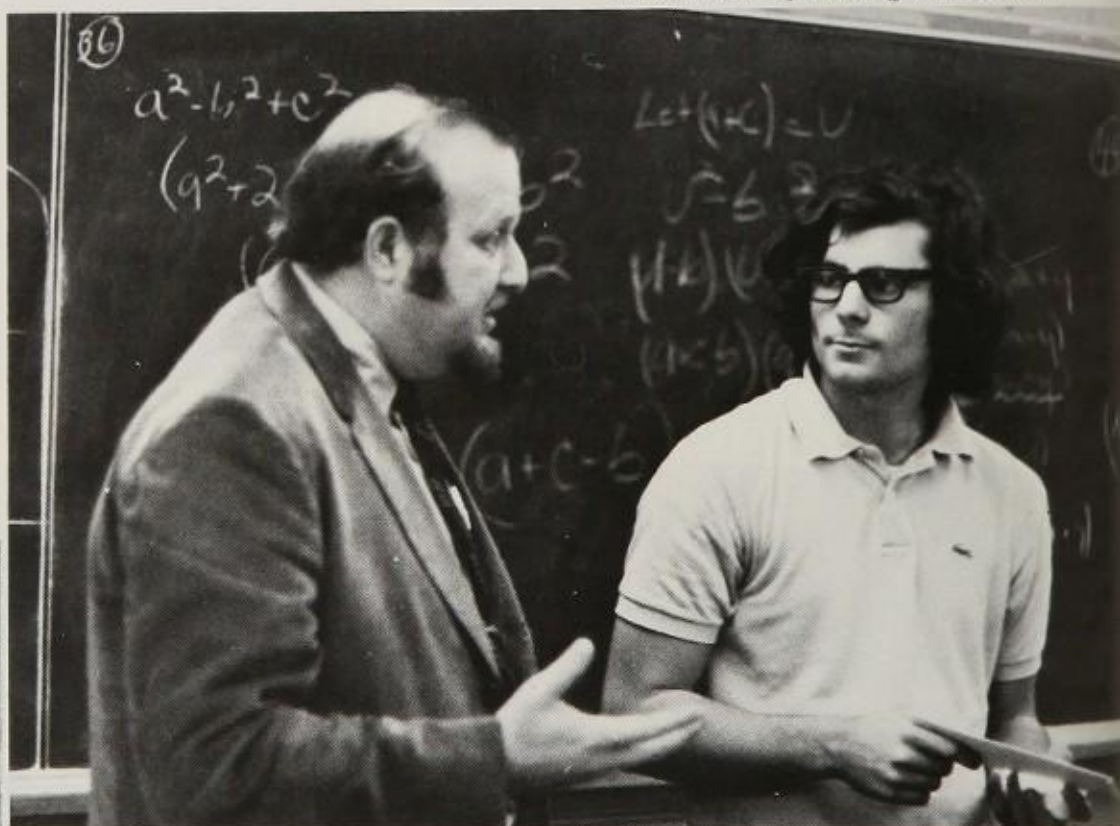

Newsbriefs

The Empire State School Press Association, which held its annual convention at Syracuse University on October 15 and 16, has rated THE PULSE the third best high school newspaper in New York State. The paper received an All-New York rating, the highest possible, and received special awards for typography and for editorial content. Ray Roel won Second Place in the Best Newswriter category, and Danny Squire won Third Place in the Best Columnist category. Richard Bronson received Honorable Mention for his Photography.

Syosset High School's awaited FM radio station will soon become a reality. Ron Dagavarian, chief engineer and station manager, anticipates that WPST-FM will begin regular operation at about Christmas time.

WPST-FM, to be found at 88.5 on the FM radio dial, will broadcast from the basement of the High School, tentatively scheduled from 2:30 to 11:00 p.m. each weekday. Syosset students operating the station plan to include rock music, panel discussions on topical subjects, talk shows, and news and weather.

The station has been allotted approximately $4500 by the Syosset Board of Education, most of which will be used to purchase necessary electronic equipment. Students qualified to broadcast will be selected by the station's personnel, including Station Manager Ron Dagavarian, Assistant Manager Paul Rubenstein and Coordinating Engineer Pat Campbell, and faculty advisors Mr. Grubman, Mr. Dipple and Mr. Strain. Fifty students have already expressed interest in operating the station.

The Issue of Readability

In theory, a newspaper existing on any level has the responsibility of informing its readers. But the methods papers choose to accomplish this can be as different as night and day.

In the past, the Pulse has strived to reach a level of relative professionalism, giving the facts as accurately as possible. Unfortunately, the Pulse has gained a reputation as being about as readable as Joyce. And just as very few read what Joyce has to say, very few read what the Pulse has to say.

Cognizant to this fact, there will be an attempt made to rectify this situation. Traditional mediocrity (i.e. good reviews for bad plays, good forecasts for next year, etc.) will be phased out, replaced by accounts that are not concocted by the crew of the Good Ship Lollypop, or by the same token, as the result of sickening cynicism.

What is printed is also of great importance. Articles that we consider interesting will be sought wholeheartedly. But our attempts will prove futile if we do not get a response from the student body; your reaction to what has happened and/or how the Pulse handled it. Letters to the Editor are encouraged and will be dealt with seriously.

The editorials that appear will attempt to provide a forum for provocative thought and idea. They will not deal exclusively with earth-shaking issues. Hopefully, there will be at least a few light moments to reflect upon, often in a humorous vein.

We can only hope that our efforts — combined with a genuine interest shown by the student body can produce an end-result that is both readable and informative. We promise our side of the deal.

A sport not appreciated

An old man sits sedately in his beach chair contemplating the green field. Not far away a stray dog chases his tail as a youngster rocks her sibling to sleep. A balding man is puffing leisurely on his pipe while the man with the red cap on his head is nearly hysterical; he is shouting, but the sounds are inaudible. Another man, bare-headed, is shouting too, likewise he is inaudible. Between the man with the red cap and the man with no cap some boys are wearing red and white jerseys and other boys are wearing blue jerseys. The boys are encouraging their teammates on the field. One boy, in a blue jersey, is engaged in deflecting a ball away from the goal. Six boys in red and white jerseys are kicking the ball at the goal. The ball is high in the air but somebody in a red and white jersey manages to get his head on it. The ball lands in the goal.

A hand is slapped across my back and I am jolted. "We've won, do you hear? We've won." The boys in the red and white jerseys are ecstatic and I can't help being so too.

The events on the field have apparently gone unnoticed. The old man uneasily shifts his carcass in the beach chair. Not far away the stray dog nurses his wounded tail as the youngster impatiently urges her sibling homeward. A merciless breeze has extinguished the flame of the balding man's pipe. Meanwhile the man with the red cap on his head is enthusiastically congratulating the boys in the red and white jerseys. The man with no cap has composed himself while the boys in the blue jerseys retreat to a waiting bus.

Not many spectators observe this sport at the school of the red and white. Too bad. They are missing something good.

"seven keys" opens door to success

The curtain opens, the audience applauds and then a wild windy storm is heard. This was the culmination of three months of endless rehearsals. The Campus Theatre Society's fall production of "Seven Keys to Baldpate" opened and closed in one weekend.

Under the direction of Joe Gladstone, the members of Campus Theatre Society "broke a leg." With the help of Mr. Terraciano (set construction) and Mr. Pellenberg (set design) the group learned about not only acting techniques but what goes on behind the finished performance.

Though not performing to capacity audiences, C.T.S. accomplished its goal. It brought together sophomores, juniors, and seniors in a fun and learning experience in the theatre.

Braves Finish Strong

Before the season began, hopes were high and expectations were great that Syosset could repeat as county champions in football. However, the team got off to a poor start, losing the first four games of a tough schedule in the county's strongest division before their offense began to roll. Much of the season's story was told in the first game, against Farmingdale, the eventual undefeated county champs. The Braves fought a hard battle but were nevertheless edged by a 6-0 margin, failing to score on three successive plays from two yards out. Not only did the loss of their first game discourage the team but it also took its toll when senior quarterback Joel Fischer was lost for the season with a broken leg.

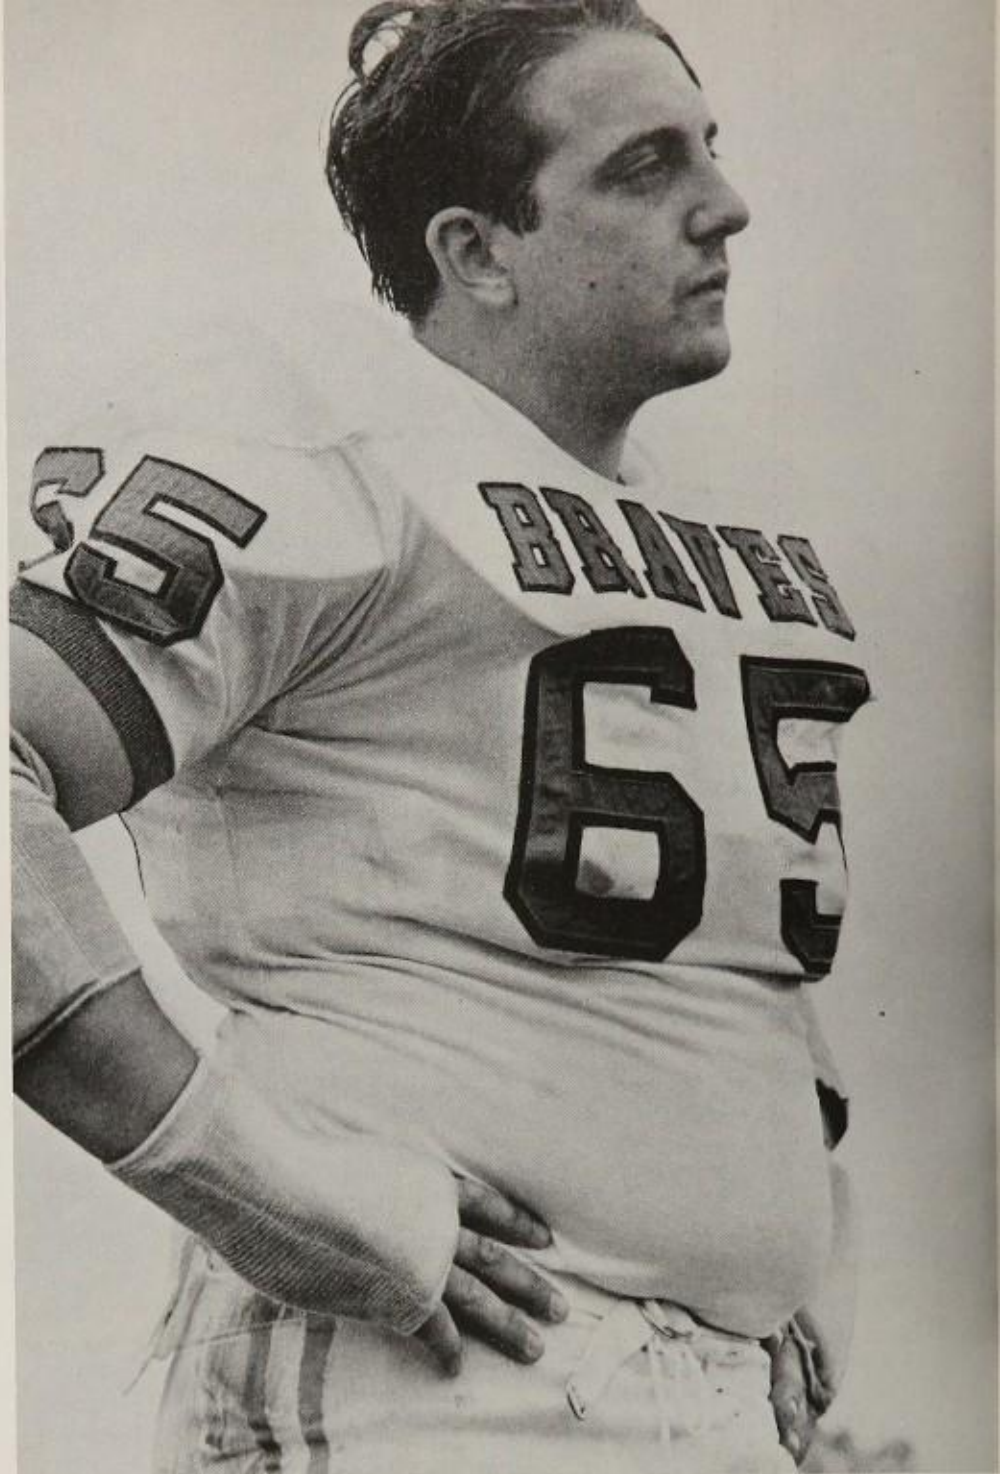

The most outstanding feature of this year's team was its massive line, comprised of seniors Tom Parnon, Tyrel Schneck, Pete Smith, Mike Rosetti, Gary Gambarani, Dave Bosnick, and Bill Collins, and bolstered with help from juniors Ed Koziatsek, Ralph Faillace, and John Kennedy. This unit played steadily all year, providing fine blocking up front and pressuring opponent quarterbacks. However, the backfield was decimated by injuries early in the year and the team lacked a consistent scoring punch as a result. After two weeks of the season, the top three quarterbacks were lost due to injuries and tight end Al D'Alessandro was shifted to quarterback until the job landed in the hands of junior Al Suarez.

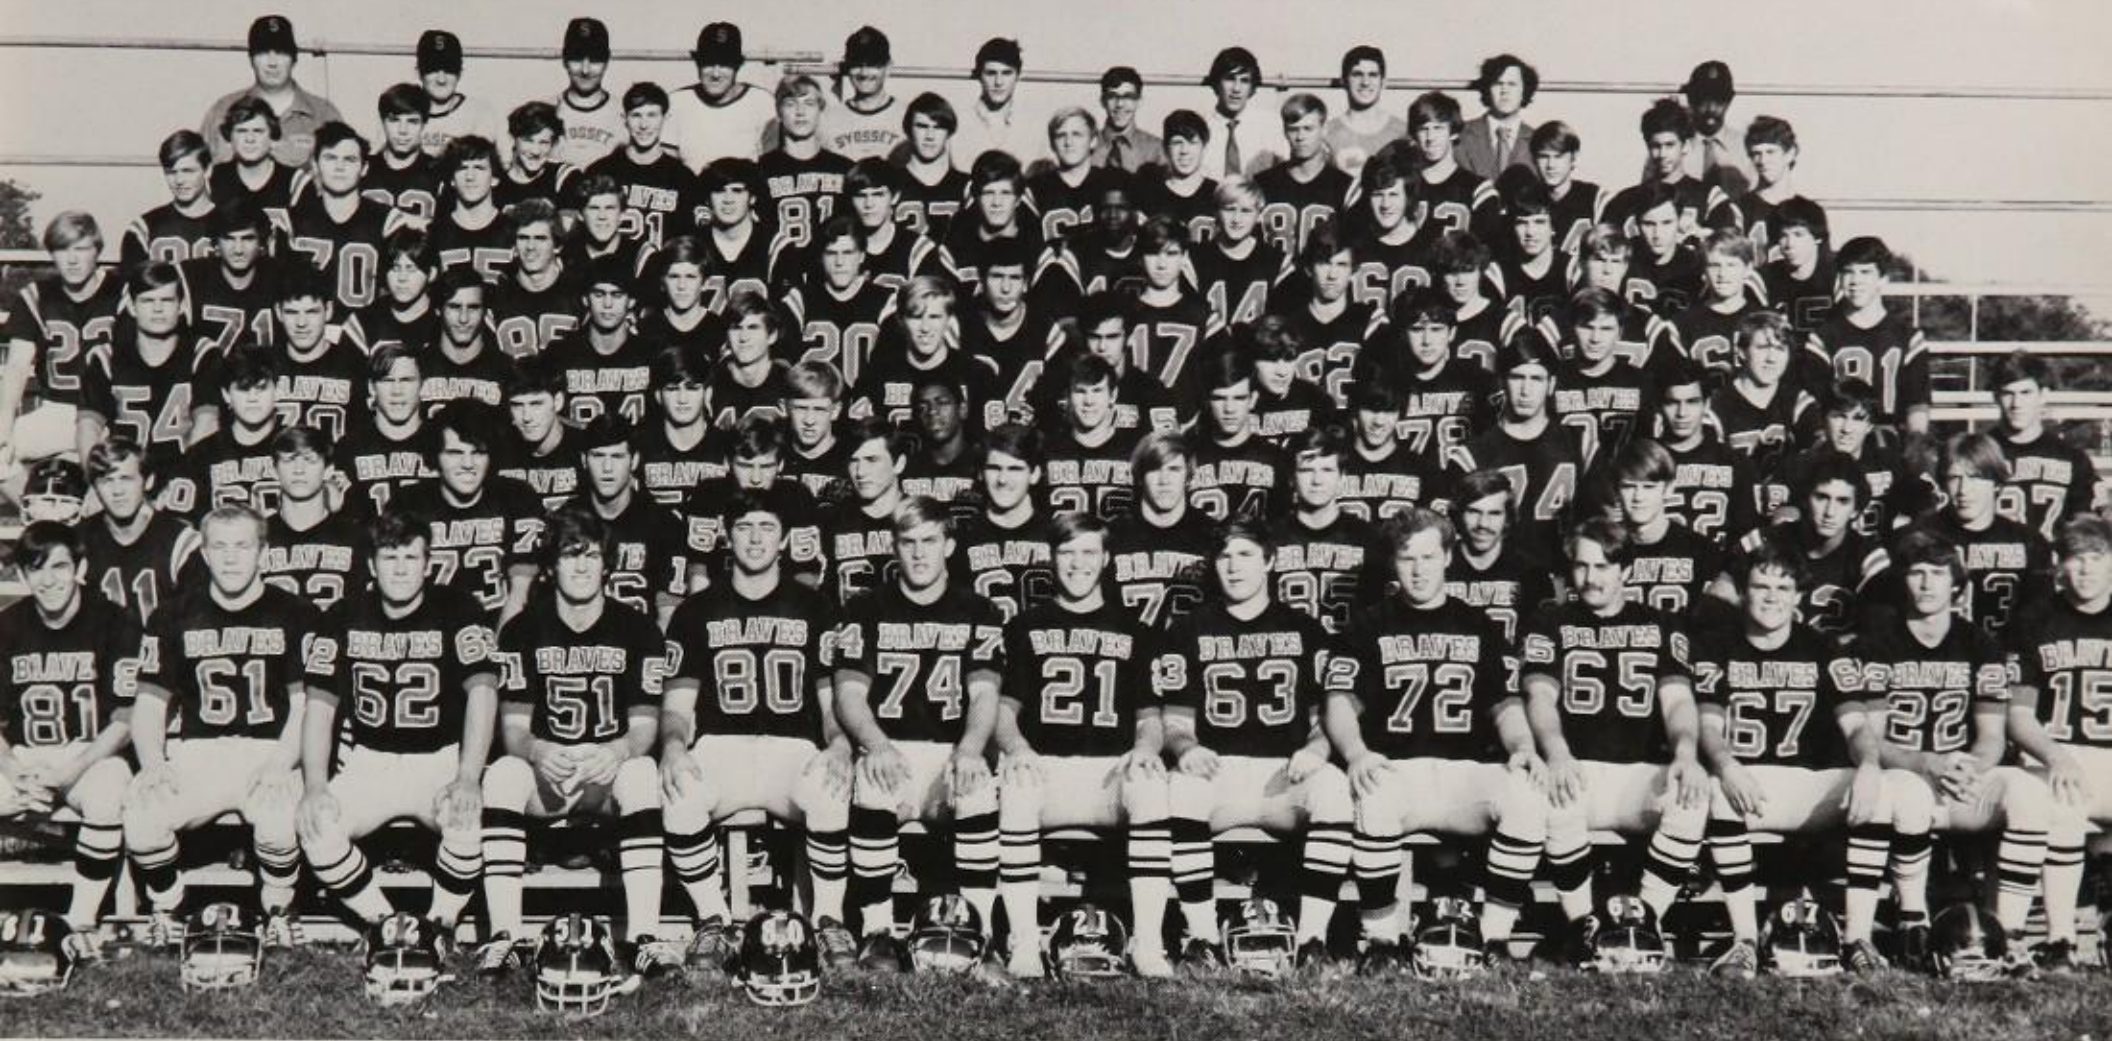

Injured Jeff Nekola also returned strong and looked good in quarterbacking the team towards the end of the season.

After four straight losses and no chance for the sought after division title, it is a credit to Coach Miller and the players themselves that they came back so strong. Junior running backs Bruce Minichino and Tommy Suspenski, along with sophomore fullback Kevin Mannix, joined seniors Jeff Hansen and Jeff Fitzgerald, both returning from injuries, and established a solid running attack that began to put points on the board. The team never gave up hope and closed out the season with successive victories over Hicksville, MacArthur, Garden City, Island Trees, and Mineola to finish with a respectable 5-4 record.

Two individuals received post-season accolades; Tom Parnon made the All-Division team as a tackle and linebacker, while tackle Tyrel Schneck also was chosen as a member of the "Gridiron 44," which is composed of the county's top players. Graduating seniors who will be sorely missed are Joe Zolner, Bob Roach, Jimmy Waugh, Brad Cornell, Mike Sadis, Rich Pehlivanian, Danny Mannix, and Rich Sadis. This year's team will be remembered for their efforts in winning for personal pride and self-respect, without a championship in sight, and thus salvaging a successful season after a disastrous start.

Booters Display Poise, Spirit, Desire

In a year that was supposed to be one of rebuilding for Syosset, the varsity soccer team surprised many people by compiling an 8-3-3 record; good enough for a second place finish in the division. After failing in their first three games, the Braves jelled into a close-knit unit and for the rest of the season absorbed only a single loss, 1-0 at the hands of powerful league champs Port Washington. This strong finish enabled Syosset to edge out both Farmingdale and Herricks in a close battle for the second playoff berth. Their season ended with a 4-2 loss to a stronger Westbury team in the North Shore playoffs.

Syosset often gained unexpected victories over more highly skilled clubs, making up for a lack of talent by playing with great hustle, aggressiveness, and desire. The key to the season was when the team avenged earlier setbacks against Herricks and Farmingdale with home-field shutout victories that put Syosset in the playoffs. On their home field, the booters were nearly invincible, allowing but one goal the entire season.

Perhaps the most significant reason for the team's success was the outstanding play of All-Division goalie Joel Schaller, who allowed fewer than one goal per game to elude his sure hands.

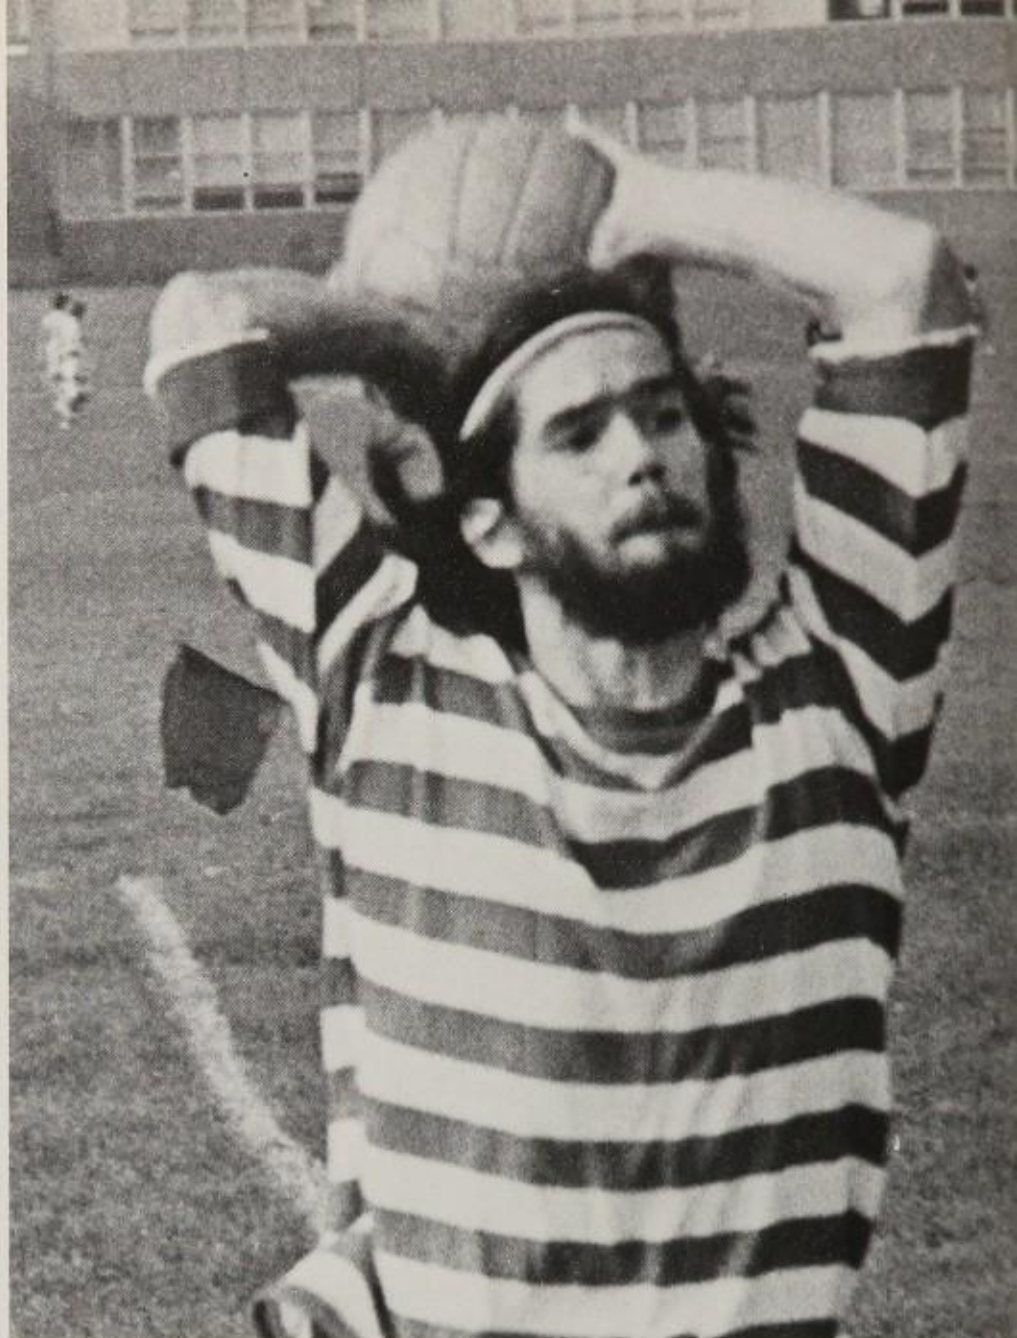

Senior lineman John Block and junior Barry Brantman provided most of Syosset's scoring punch. They were joined on the line by team captain Andy Economopoulos, Scott Lundstrom, and Scott Wathey. Senior center-halfback Lee Schwartz controlled the middle of the field with help from juniors Lesley Levinson, Rich Barreto, and Bobby Wilkinson. The defense came on strong as the season continued, led by the aggressive play of Robby McWalters and the strong foot of Tom Bowden, and bolstered by the consistent pursuit of Jon Tolins and Chris Brown.

All of these seniors will be sorely missed; however a fine nucleus including high-scorer Barry Brantman and goalie Joel Schaller will be returning, joined by a first place J.V. squad. This should give Coach Read high hopes for another successful season next year.

Cross Country Endures

The hard-working harriers of the Syosset High School cross-country team earned a second place finish in Division I this past year. Their efforts were enough to gain the team a 5-1 record, with undefeated Plainedge, replacing Syosset as the new league champs, inflicting the sole loss. In the closing weeks of the season, a vital triangular meet was won by Plainedge, determining the fate of the Syosset runners.

Pete Gregory and Joe Hyman were the team's top runners, consistently managing to finish with the head of the pack. They were often closely pursued by a horde of Syosset runners that included Clay Smith, Jeff Massaro, Kevin McTague, Rich Herzer, Jim Wilson, and Steve Harborenko. Pete Reardon, who held the team's best time, was injured and unfortunately lost for the season.

Although the team failed to retain the division title, coach Clint Miller summarized the season as a fine effort by a quality team. Syosset's true strength was indicated by a third place overall finish in the North Shore meet, falling behind only Plainedge and Bethpage. Combining a county championship Junior Varsity team with the team's usual grueling conditioning program should thrust Syosset into the midst of another battle for the division title in cross country next year.

Netmen's Destiny . . . Not Enough

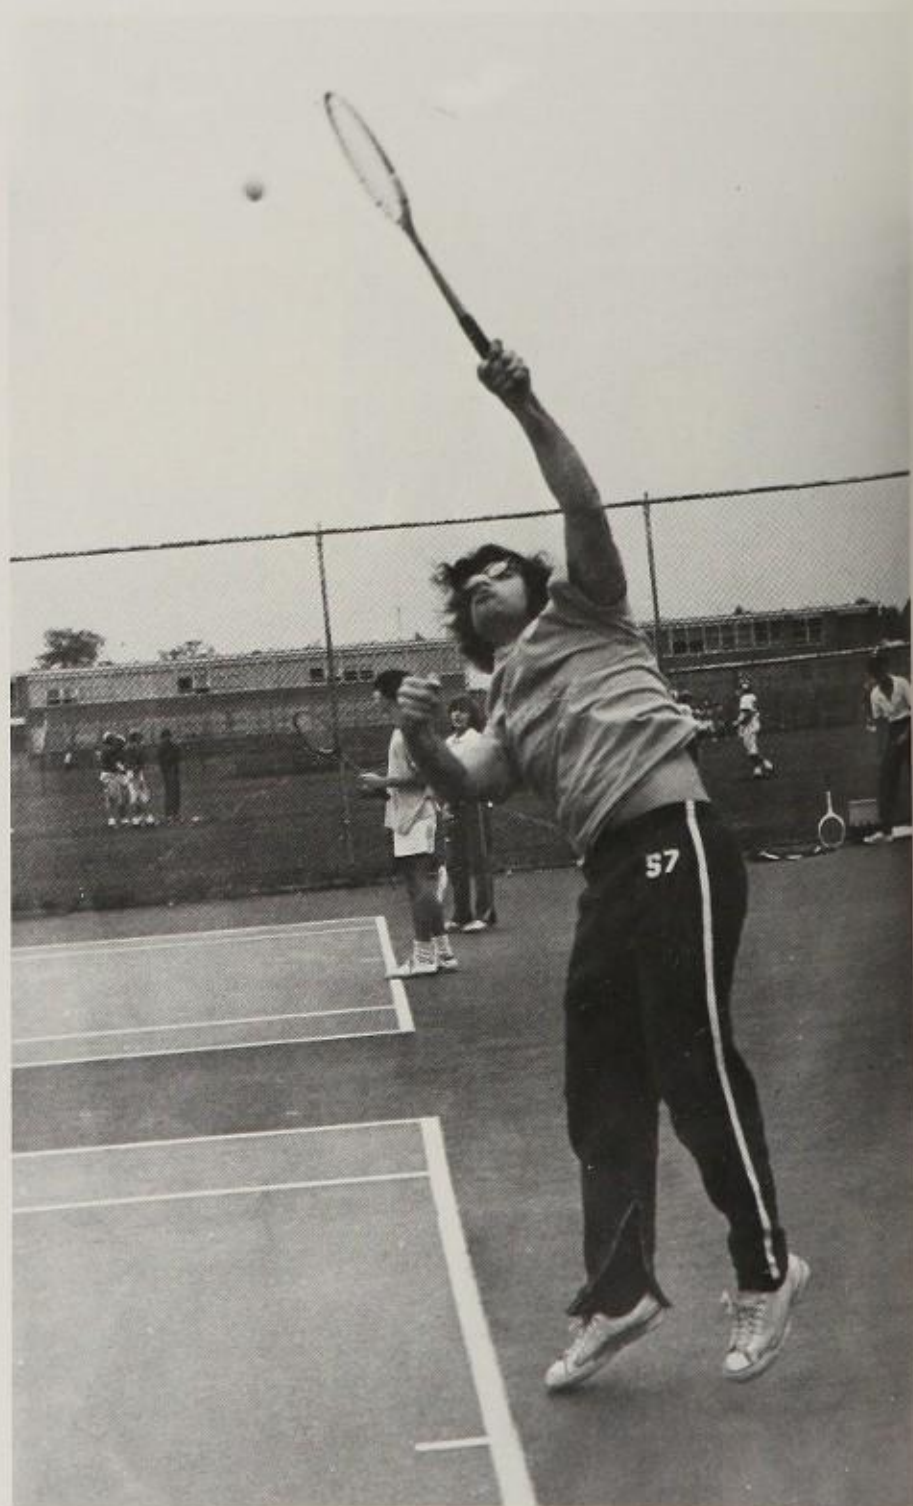

It seems to be the fate of the Syosset tennis players that they should always lack just enough talent to carry them to the league championship. It has become customary that the Braves should trounce all the teams in the division, only to lose to the perennial tennis power, Herricks. This year, another strong tennis club, Port Washington, entered the league and Syosset compiled an 8-4 record, losing only to Port and Herricks. Against the rest of the competition, the Netmen racked up an amazing 55-1 total score. However, this effort was only good enough for a third place finish and failed to qualify the Braves for the county playoffs.

Junior co-captains Russel Gropman and Mark Cohen alternated at first singles, while Chuck Russel and Rich Wallshein shared the other singles spots. Mickey Russel and Dennis Dunn made up the first doubles team. In the final match of the season, Syosset nearly upset undefeated Herricks before bowing by a 4-3 score. The first doubles team of Barry Wolper and Bruce Berman and Steve Ravich and John Greenberg were victorious along with Gropman.

While Port and Herricks are losing most of their top players next year, Syosset is returning nearly everyone. Hopefully next year Syosset will be able to stand up to these teams and win the division championship.

Hard Work Pays Off

The girl's field hockey team enjoyed a tremendous revival this season with a record of seven wins and one loss. Both the Varsity and J. V. teams, under the direction of new coach, Miss Shander, compiled impressive scores at each and every game.

Individual achievement along with exceptional team-work played an important role in the accomplishments of both teams.

This fine season was also due to the knowledge and guidance that Coach Shander imparted to the members of the team.

We're the Cheerleaders

Today the word "cheerleader" conjures up one image, that of an empty-headed, status-seeking body, following the "jocks" around the gym. The cheerleaders of Syosset High School would like to rectify that stereotyped image. We enjoy cheering, not because we are seeking attention from others, but because we find it to be a rewarding experience. We have fun at practice, not because we are so busy perfecting cheers, but because we all find some pleasure in each other's company.

Basketball: Key Does Not Fit Title Lock

For four straight years, Syosset has walked away with the league basketball title while the rest of the division has stood by, watching and waiting. A turn about of the situation this year saw Syosset thrust into the midst of a tight struggle to reach the playoffs, with the league championship up for grabs.

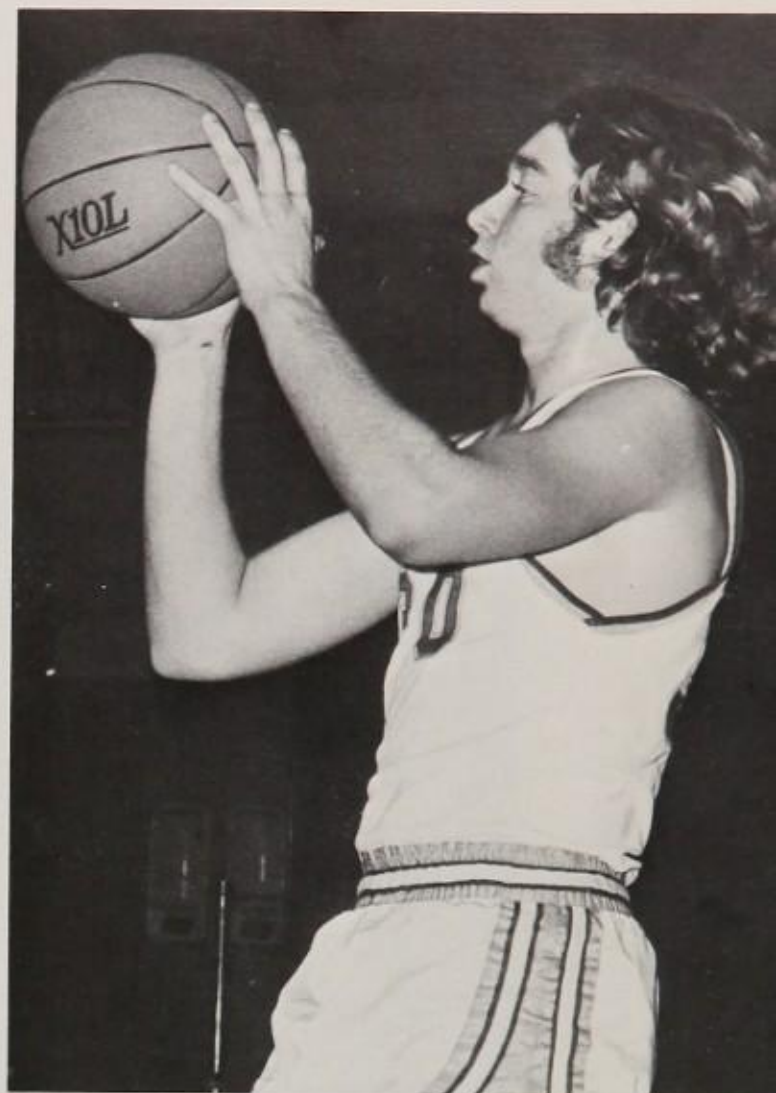

Coach Ahren's inexperienced new team jumped off to a 4-0 division mark and visions of another undefeated league season arose. But against a taller Port Washington team, the Braves were beaten badly off the boards, absorbing a 73-53 loss. Still, Syosset went into the second half of the season in first place. However, they were shocked by MacArthur, a previous victim, losing 57-37, then again by Hicksville. At Hicksville, the Braves lost a heartbreaker in the last 8 seconds, 55-54. This proved to be the turning point of the season because Syosset eventually dropped into a third place tie with Hicksville. In a playoff game to determine which team would enter the county tournament, the Braves lost 52-49.

One distinctive feature of this year's squad was the balanced scoring and team play. Everyone contributed to the team effort; no one player dominated the action. They often fed the hot man and there was usually a different high scorer for each game. Senior backcourt men Joel Fisher and Dick English controlled the Syosset attack. Fisher paced the squad with his deadly outside shooting and baseline drives, while English led the Brave's fast break and scrapped for most of the loose balls. Senior Al D'Alessandro and George Pratt played the frontcourt and provided some scoring and muscle underneath.

The most pleasant surprise of all was sophomore center Gary Ackerman, the team's leading rebounder. At 6'3", he already moves exceptionally well and has an excellent shooting touch. Junior Jeff Nekola completed the starting team and is expected to lead the offense next year. Senior guard Craig "Mugsy" Simon saw a good deal of playing time and could give the team a spark with his deft passing.

The Junior Varsity team was one of Coach Mintz's finest ever, finishing with a 15-1 record. Next Year, these sophomores should be able to blend in smoothly with the returning lettermen and put Syosset back on top of the division.

Young Grapplers Struggle for Personal Satisfaction

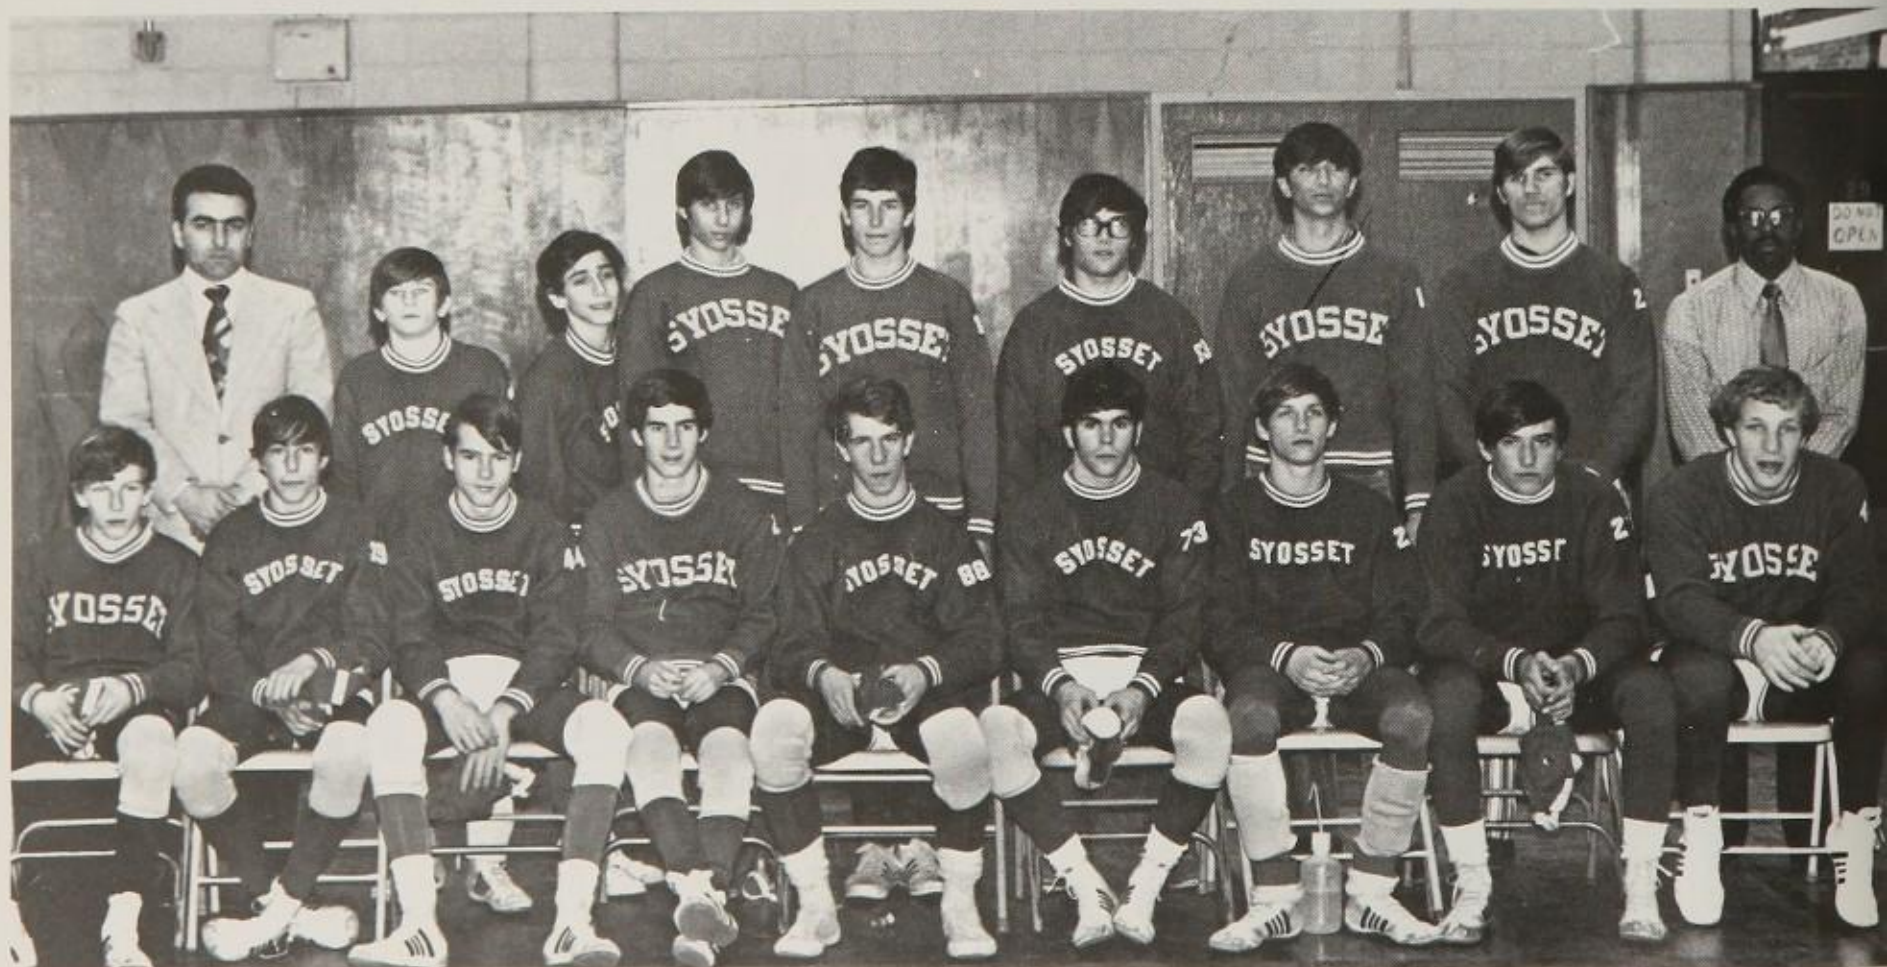

With Farmingdale and Hicksville firmly established as the two top teams in the division, the Syosset Wrestling team entered the season with little hope for a championship. The Braves, with a small squad of only 14, unfortunately had to forfeit 12 points each match. They finished with an overall 4-7-1 dual meet record in the North Shore's toughest wrestling division.

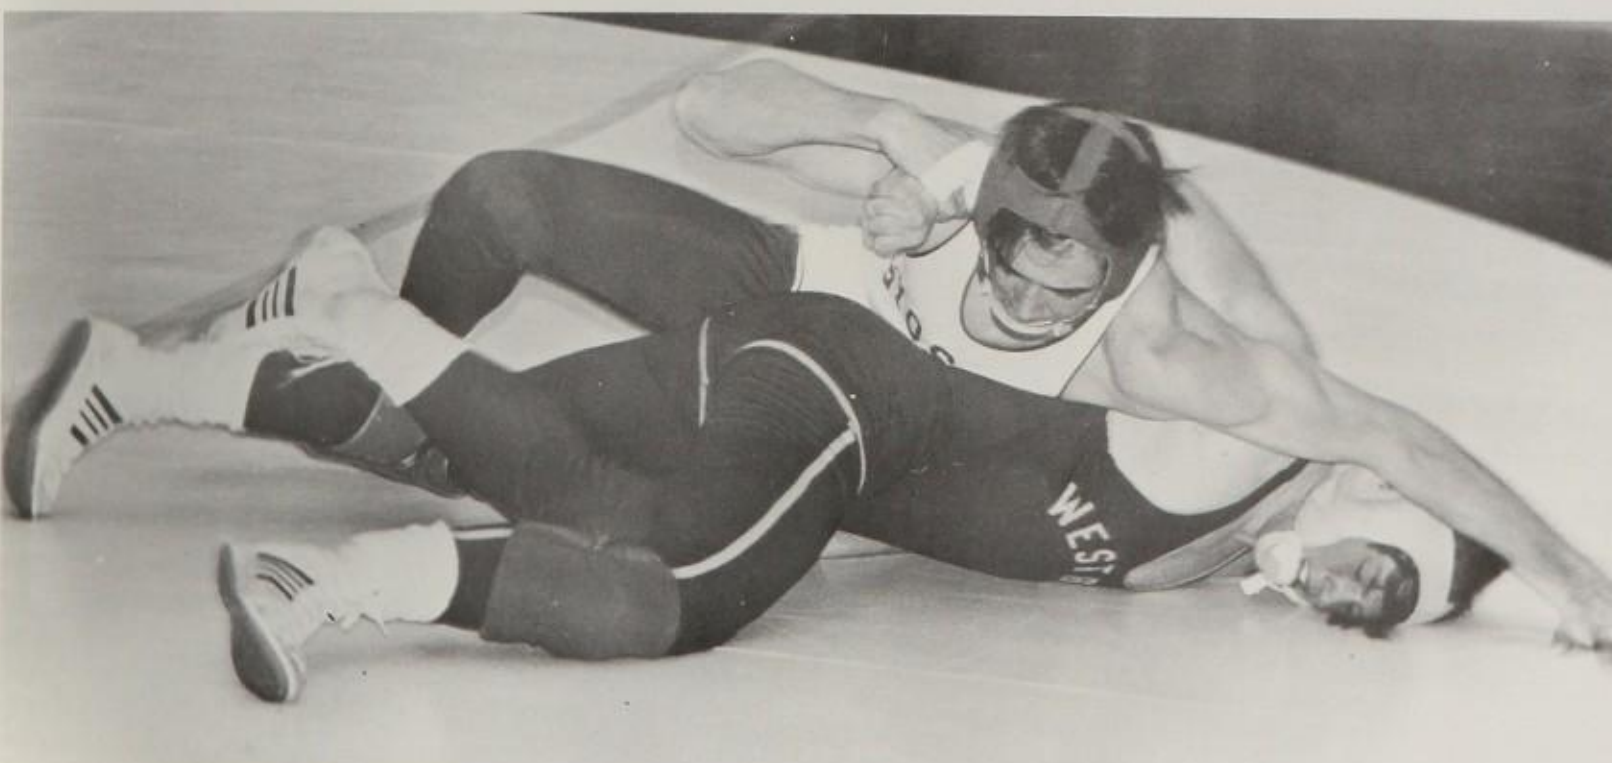

What was significant about the season was the excellent tournament placings of Syosset's finest wrestler. The first big tournament of the year was the Locust Valley Tourney. Three year varsity man, junior Mike Roach, won it all in the 98 pound weight class, with Jay Bernstein placing third in the same class. Senior captain Bob DeMeo, at 132 pounds, and heavyweight Dave Boznick also took a second at 138. Spirited senior Danny Mannix wrestled hard throughout the season, often drawing the opposing team's top man. Paul Elias, another senior, finished the season at 11-3 and completed the team along with junior John Kennedy, at 167.

In the Division I tournament, Syosset turned in its best performance in years, sending 6 wrestlers to the North Shores. Bob DeMeo reached the finals of the North Shore and will join Economopolous, Roach, and Boznick in the county Tournament.

Next year, juniors Evan Franck, Gary Kennedy, John Kennedy, and Roach should help the 7 returning sophomores who gained valuable varsity experience. Wrestling is a sport where experience can prove to be an all-important factor. Bolstered by the coaching of Wes McMillan and John Pappas, this experience will hopefully mature into polished wrestling at Syosset.

Keds Helps Winter Track Team Win Division Meet

Syosset track teams have always relied on a tremendous amount of depth to insure their success. This tradition was upheld once again when the Indoor Track team won the league championship this year by placing a horde of top finishers in addition to the few individual winners in the Division Meet at Hofstra.

In this meet, most of the runners who performed consistently throughout the season placed high. The top distance runners for the Braves were Pete Gregory, Jeff Massaro, and Ian Donohue in the mile, Steve Horborenko and Rich Kass in the 1000 yard run, and Lay Smith and Steve Drosgrey in the 2 mile event. However, the division title was won largely through the efforts of the sprinters and relay teams. The turning point of the meet came in the 60 yard dash, where Syosset won the first four places. Sophomore Kevin Mannix finished first, followed by Jimmy Waugh, Ron Sedia, and Andy Schneider. Jeff Hansen, Tom Neary, and Tom Suspenski were other fine Syosset sprinters while Bob Mehmehl, Ed Naranjo, and Kevin Cavanaugh were tops in the hurdles.

The relay teams always did well, often giving Syosset 2 or 3 of the top 5 places in an event. The mile relay teams took second and third places in the division while the 880 yard teams placed first, third, and fourth. Tom Neary, Andy Schneider, Jimmy Waugh, and Tom Suspenski made up the top 880 team and the mile relay included Joe Zolner, Steve Dentone, Bart Wooley, and Jeff Krasnoff. Pete Smith was the best at the shot put, winning a second place in the division.

This year's coaching staff of Clint Miller, Dick Herzer, John Kozusko, and first year man Al Zodda worked together exceptionally well. Although the Braves failed to win an event in the North Shore Meet, many relay teams placed high and the Syosset runners made a fine showing once again.

Depth Is a Four Letter Word

Although a few Syosset swimmers consistently turned in outstanding performances, the team lacked the championship calibre depth it had enjoyed in previous years. As a result, the team's 7-5 record did not truly indicate some of the fine talent Coach Jones has helped to develop.

Senior Brian Smith, the team's most versatile swimmer, completed his four year varsity career by setting two school records. He set the 100-yard backstroke record and his time of 2:18.1 broke the 200-yard Individual Medley record by two seconds. Hard-working Bob Leahy, also a senior, was Syosset's top freestyle swimmer. He had a fine season, during which he set two school marks. Clarke

McGuire also swam well throughout the year and turned in an amazing performance in the 400-yard freestyle at the sectional championship. His time of 4:10 shattered his own previous best by 15 seconds and established a new school record. These three all placed well in the sectional championships, along with the relay team of Brad Goldman, Barry Brantman, Rich Barreto, and Ken Franco. Brantman, a junior, also finished third in the county diving championships. He will be joining Barreto, Danny Hodes, Tom Patrey, Paul Greco, and Todd Rochman next year to help replace the graduating seniors that include Rich Cohen and Scott Weininger.

Led by coach Clint Miller, the Pied Piper of the North Shore, Syosset High's spring track team thundered through another undefeated league season, compiling a 6-0 record. This added yet another banner contributed by a track powerhouse which has become a Brave's tradition, and completed a sweep of the three seasonal track titles.

The 1971 season was not only marked by outstanding depth, which has become characteristic of Syosset track teams, but also proved to be a record setting year where many individuals won honors. School records were set by both the 440-yard and the 2 mile relay teams. The 440 team of Joe Persampiere, Lance Cavanaugh, Dave Bailey, and Tom Suspenski also proved themselves valuable in the 880 relay. The 2 mile relay team of Tom Horan, Dave Abromowitz, Ben Dreksler, and Bob Gittleman shattered the old school record by more than six seconds with a time of 8:01.3.

The field events, not usually a Syosset strong-point, produced three record breakers. Under the guidance of Coach Kozusko, Dave Bailey set a school record in the shot-put and George Pratt excelled in the discus, also setting a record. A superb performance was turned in by John Hochuli in the North Shore meet, where he bettered the previous school mark in the pole vault.

Although the team had many stars and record breakers, it took consistent performances by many individuals in various events to keep them winning. Ray Ricci, Ron Edelman, Joe Zolner, and Steve Ostrow were outstanding in the broad and triple jumps as were Rich Schroeder and Steve Harborenko in the high jump and Jeff Krasnoff and Craig Stein in the pole vault. Some other fine runners who contributed were Jim Wilson, Steve Dentone, Jim Devaney, Marc Piccione, Deni Zodda, Jeff Massaro, Richard Herzer, and Jeff Fitzgerald.

Although Syosset will be hard hit by graduation, it is expected that Clint will recruit enough talent once again to fill the gap and keep Syosset track on top.

Lacrosse Team Shows Promise

After only three years of league competition, the members of the 1971 varsity lacrosse team, under the direction of coach Lenny Mintz, have shown they can now play on a level close to that of the best teams on the North Shore. Competing in the very tough Division I, the team compiled an overall 6-8 record, its best ever. Considering that lacrosse is relatively new to the district and experience is therefore lacking, this record actually indicates remarkable success and improvement in the sport since it was first introduced to Syosset just four years ago.

Syosset opened its season by winning four straight games against non-league opponents and hopes were high for a successful league season. However, the team lost its first four division contests, although they gave a fine showing against some perennial lacrosse powers such as Herricks and MacArthur. Throughout the season, the club played many outstanding games; highlights included revenging an earlier defeat by Clarke, a double-overtime loss to a highly favored Farmingdale team, and a stunning upset of powerful Hicksville. The young Braves team held its own in every game and was not once embarrassed by an opponent.

The stickmen were led by co-captains Jeff Pearse and Jeff Hansen, who along with Steve Prasinos comprised the first mid-field. Unfortunately, Hansen, a junior with all-division mention, was lost for the season with three games left to play and a .500 season within reach. Despite this, he scored 16 goals to top the team in scoring. Pearse was the second leading scorer with 10 goals, including four against Farmingdale.

All-Division goalie Blair Bell anchored a strong defense which included versatile Doug Cornwell and juniors Tom Parnon and Tyrel Schneck, who provided some extra muscle in front of the goal. Not once all season did the opposition manage to score in double figures.

The attack, which wasn't shut out all year, included Barry Manus and juniors Chris Phillips and Bill Rutter. Other fine let-termen returning this year are Danny Mannix, Chris Hopman, Dave Boznick, Gary Gambarani, Chris Brown, and Sophs John Kennedy and Andy Schneider. An excellent J. V. program under Coach John Miller and increasing participation on the junior high level present a very real possibility for a team of championship calibre at Syosset in the near future.

SYOSSET BASEBALL

Bear's Batsmen Capture Division Crown

After a drought of ten years, Syosset's varsity baseball team emerged from the depths of mediocrity and became the class of the league, finishing first in Division I with a 9-3 record, 15-6 overall. This was a particularly well-balanced team; a tight defense and a team batting average of near .300 contributed heavily to the successful season. According to coach Joel "Bear" Goldberg, this year's team was "a tremendous group of individuals, each contributing to the championship. No individual was the sole reason."

Advancing to the second round of the North Shore playoffs, Syosset's hopes for a county championship came to an abrupt end when they were eliminated by Floral Park. In a tightly played, well-pitched game behind Howie Stein, the Braves lost a heartbreaking 1-0 decision which could have very easily gone the other way.

The team's success was indicated by the fact that seven Syosset players received formal mention on post-season teams. First Baseman Chris Kupec, a .430 hitter, made the All-County team for the second straight year while shortstop Ralph Porcello was also chosen for the All-County squad. Pitcher Howie Stein and outfielder-pitcher Rich Maake turned in consistent performances all year and were chosen to join teammates Kupec and Porcello on the All-Division team. Second baseman Al Stillman and juniors Bob Roach, at catcher and Al D'Allesandro, an outfielder, also received all-league mention. Mark Stefens, at third, and Neil Krakauer, in left field, completed the powerful starting team. Seniors Wes Wathey and Jeff Siegel, juniors Bob Murdock, Bill Meier, and Joel Fischer, and sophomores Bruce Minichino and Jim McArdle added to the total team effort.

Perhaps the inspiration behind the team throughout the year was a promise made by coach Goldberg at the start of the season. He said that if the Braves won the division title he would treat them all to Whoppers, the hamburgers par excellence. The ensuing party at Burger King proved to be the highlight of the season and could help to establish a winning baseball tradition at Syosset High.

The presence of the ever-active Mr. Titterton was once again appreciated by many students participating in after school activities. In the fall, "T" organized a football club whose members played every week with fierce dedication. Then came winter, and hence, the hockey club, which finished with a 5-7 record competing against other schools. The outstanding players for the hockey team included Chris Brown, Len Buttar, Dennis Dunn, and Gary Elwell.

class of 1973

This year's junior class has proved itself very productive in various fields. Under the leadership of many fine students, organizations such as STAB (Student Teacher Advisory Board), have been organized to better our educational system. Other achievements include the founding of Logos, an essay magazine, the establishment of a new form of government, and the promotion of student involvement in community affairs. The class has shown that student government can be effective.

The Science department offers a variety of courses suited to meet the needs of students at all levels. The curriculum includes the standard Biology, Chemistry and Physics Syllabus. It has also been expanded to offer courses such as Modified Biology and Physical Science for the less motivated science student.

For the more gifted "future scientists" college level courses are offered in Biology and Chemistry in the senior year. Other post-regents courses include Introduction to Higher Science and Laboratory Techniques.

The Science department encourages students to think for themselves and apply scientific methods in the solution of problems.

social studies: a class dedicated to those who have died

The world is a constantly changing place. In order to effectively teach students about the world, methods must be constantly changed. The Syosset High School Social Studies department, thinking along these lines, has devised a very flexible curriculum.

A variety of courses, ranging from Asian History to Modern American Government, is offered to seniors, including a new Philosophy course. For juniors and sophomores a new type of discipline, the Humanities Program, was instituted last year, incorporating English with Social Studies. Because of the success of last year's Humanities program it was repeated this year.

A successful Social Studies class cannot exist in a rigid atmosphere and the department has succeeded in lessening the tension in their classrooms.

is wisdom a lot of language?

Diane Schwartz

For a long time men have plucked letters out of the air and shaped syllables. And out of the syllables came words And from the words came phrases, clauses. Sentences were born — and languages. (The Tower of Babel didn't work out — it came down quicker than it went up.) Misunderstandings followed the languages. Arguments, epithets, maledictions, curses, gossip, backbiting, the buzz of the bazoo, Chit chat, blah blah, talk just to be talking, Monologues of members telling other members How good they are now and were yesterday, Conversations missing the point, Dialogues seldom as beautiful as soliloquies, Seldom as fine as a man alone, a woman by herself Telling a clock, "I'm a plain damn fool."

Read the dictionary from A to Izzard today. Get a vocabulary. Brush up on your diction. See whether wisdom is just a lot of language.

Jim Chenevey, chairman

Syosset's Math department feels that students should be given the opportunity to have the best possible learning experience. This can be accomplished when his involvement, interest, and ability all reach their maximum level. In accordance with this idea, the math department has devised a curriculum to meet the needs of all the interested math students.

The courses range from elementary algebra to an advanced calculus course for seniors. An introduction to higher math is offered as a half year course to math-oriented students.

To alleviate grade pressure, twelfth grade math is offered to the students on a pass-fail system if they so desire.

Syosset's art department offers a wide variety of courses enabling students to experiment in different media. For the very talented, there is a three year sequence of study resulting in a senior Advanced Art Class. For those who like to dabble, there are half-year minors that can be taken on a pass-fail basis. These courses are designed for students to gain more skill and understanding of art.

The Business Education department has created courses that will provide students with a background in business practices and procedures. Students planning to join the business world after high school are encouraged to select one of the many three-year sequences.

Other courses, such as brief-hand and personal typing, are given for students who wish to elect them for their own personal needs. A new course was added to the curriculum this year — The Collegiate Secretary. This course is for the student who has taken few or no business courses and who wants training for a summer or part time job.

The curriculum of the music department is designed to give students the opportunity to study music from a technical aspect. It also teaches understanding and appreciation of music through listening and participation.

Students who plan to specialize in music are urged to take a three-year sequence which includes Beginning Theory, History, and Appreciation of Music. Those students who enjoy singing or playing an instrument but don't intend to make music a career are encouraged to join the chorus or the band.

Three years ago another prerequisite was added to the requirements for graduation — a half-year course in Health Education.

The course is designed to teach students about family life, sex education, and narcotics. It is also an opportunity for students to talk freely on any subject. Included in the curriculum are many guest speakers and movies that keep student interest at a high level.

Since this program was instituted in the high school, it has become part of the curriculum in the junior high school and in many high schools across the country.

A pinch of this and a dash of that is not all there is to cooking. The Home Economics department has realized the need to update the form of their program.

The foods course begins with Introduction to Foods, and offers courses with varying stress placed on nutrition, health, and food preparation. There are half-year minor courses such as Bachelor Pad and Convenience Cookery to give "the Defrosters" some cooking experience.

Besides the culinary aspect of home economics, there is a wide range of sewing courses offered. The novice begins with following pre-made patterns and may eventually tailor her individual designs. Childcare and the study of family life also falls within the Home Economic Department.

This department hopes that the student body will respond to their revised curriculum. They feel assured that more will take advantage of these truly practical courses, making preparations for their emancipated future.

There are many students today who feel the need to bring their education into constructive terms now, rather than waiting for the future. These students, young men and women use their time to mold and shape their ideas into something realistic and necessary.

The instructors in the Industrial Arts Program guide these students through the problems created by trial and error learning. They patiently teach the students the intricacies of mathematical art, and help them progress their ability towards architectural and engineering occupations.

"let me put it to you this way."

The Syosset Guidance Department seeks to give personal guidance to all students on both academic subjects and personal problems. Each counselor attempts to help every student plan for his future by offering advice concerning high school course choices, and most important, the choice of college itself. Syosset's counselors spend many hours contemplating the correct way to give the most appropriate and helpful information to their students. We appreciate it.

sub program

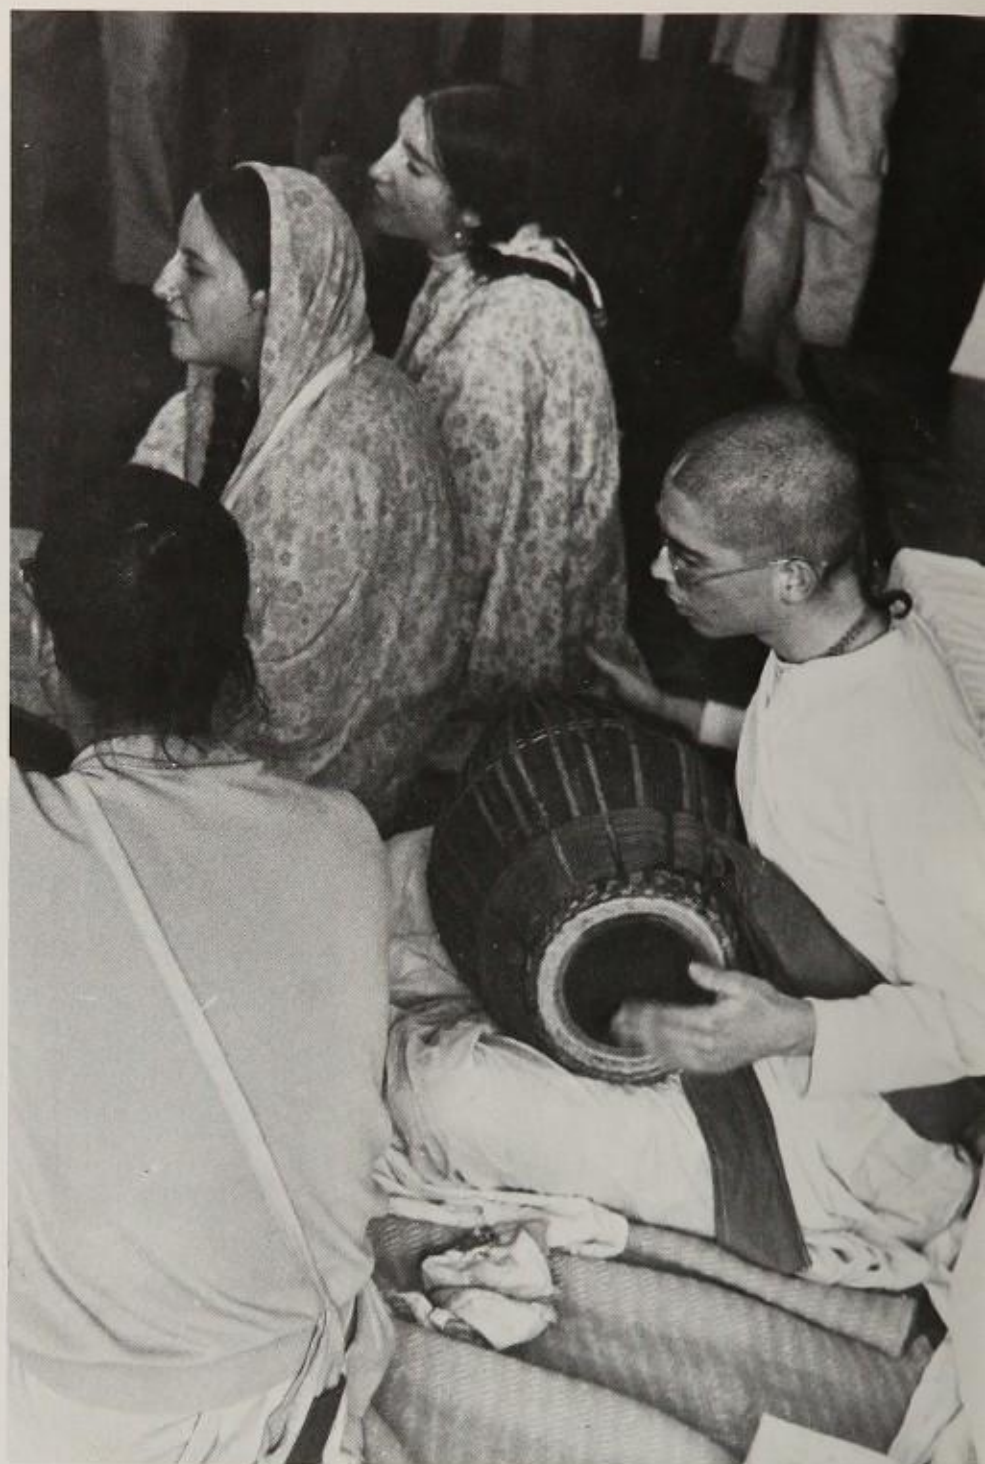

Very often, a student at Syosset High School finds his education, in time, limited to the walls within a classroom. More times than not, this results in a general disinterest in school.

During the spring of last year a new program was instituted. However it was not until this academic year that the new Substitute Program was actually successful. It eliminates the necessity to hire substitute teachers, and allows the student to partake of a continually changing and enlightening program. Over the course of the year it has presented speakers appealing to every interest ranging from homosexuality to existentialism.

This is one more way in which the students can attempt to attain a more satisfying and well-rounded education.

Mr. Shiflet, Mr. Weiland, Mr. Donneley

special strokes for special folks

Few people realize the importance of duties rendered by those in "Special Services." These people; the nurses, Reading Consultants and Psychologists often go without recognition despite the necessity of these vital positions.

The men and women who perform such services are devoted to assisting students with questions and problems that cannot be answered by their subject teachers.

Without them, Syosset High School would not be able to function effectively. Now, however, the students have the opportunity to benefit from their intense dedication. Students who have already, realize the integral part those involved in the "Special Services" Department play in guiding and assisting them in these special areas.

Who me, a Fortune- Builder?

You must be kidding! Take a close look. These bags I'm holding are filled with groceries not loot. I work after school and all day Saturday, now you tell me how I can build a fortune.

We're not kidding, Jack Doyle. And we do know a fortune isn't built in a day or a year. At least, not when you're a student working part time. But consider the possibility of stashing away a fiver a week or in round figures, 20 bucks a month. In ten short years you have $2,400 PLUS $715 in earned dividends giving you a total of $3,115. To J. Paul Getty, peanuts. To Jack Doyle, a fortune! (Read the table below and see what happens in 20 years.)

Here's a suggestion: Start with a 5 year plan and stick to it. It could mean a down payment on new wheels, college books, a ski outfit or perhaps, another 5 year plan. We've been told by some of our young depositors that a growing bank book is a 'hard-to-beat groove'. Those weekly fivers add up and compound interest speeds up the process. Our highest dividend rate to date is a full 5% a year from day of deposit compounded quarterly and to illustrate how that works, money deposited today actually doubles in 14 years. You can't lose, right?

Loans for Learning

If you need a low-cost student loan for college, trade or nursing school, preparatory school or graduate studies see the Lincoln first.

1. For the student whose family's net taxable income is under $15,000, Lincoln will lend up to $7,500. No interest accrues as long as you are in school, and then you may have up to 10 years to repay.
2. Families whose net taxable income is over $15,000 may borrow up to $20,000—as much as $5,000 in any school year.
